

Eileen Nye, Registered Nurse

Eileen Nye, RGN, OHC, completed her nurse training in Lancashire in 1976 and for a period of time worked in general nursing both in the UK and several countries around the world. In 1982 she completed the one year full time study in Occupational Health and achieved the Occupational Health Certificate.

Over the past 27 years Eileen has worked in a variety of industries in the commercial sector at senior levels and has extensive experience in the rehabilitation of employees back to work following long term sickness absence. In her capacity as an Occupational Health Advisor she has been involved in working with HR managers and more recently also with insurers to coordinate rehabilitation plans that ensure a successful and sustained return to the workplace for the employee. She has experience of liaising with primary care providers, therapists and specialist bodies such as Access to Work to expedite the clients return. She has worked with Health and Safety managers and HR personnel to conduct risk assessments, develop policies and run training programmes for companies in areas such as Sick Leave management and Drug and Alcohol policies.

For the past 9 years Eileen has also gained experience as a Case Manager with Case Management companies specialising in the rehabilitation of clients with Acquired Brain Injury. Combining her specialism in Occupational Health with Case Management she has been able to offer advice on both the physical as well as the cognitive aspects to be considered for a client when they are looking at returning to the workplace.

Eileen is a member of the Royal College of Nurses.
